Message from the President

Dear Members of the Swiss Association of Hong Kong,
Dear Readers,

We are very proud to present you with your personal copy of the 134th edition of the s'Alphorn magazine. By going through the pages you will learn more about the Swiss Association of Hong Kong's past events, as well as read some interesting and insightful stories of Swiss living in Hong Kong.

The Swiss Association of Hong Kong provides many opportunities for you to make new friends, to mingle with families and to network with people, who may just have moved to Hong Kong or have been here for many, many years. Our events celebrate Swiss traditions coupled with great food and wine and in the past year we have had record participants for many events, e.g. Santa Claus or Raclette in the Park. If you are not a member yet, don't miss these opportunities and join the Swiss Association of Hong Kong (see page 66).

As a volunteer organisation, the Swiss Association is also looking for members who would like to get involved as part of the committee or in organising events with us. Please reach out to me or the committee members (see page 8) with your contribution.

In 2014 we introduced a new online tool for registering events and settling payments online. After solving some technical difficulties, late last year we extended the tool to also include the membership management. You can now pay your membership fee online and also update your personal information there. Please make use of this option and let us know if you need any assistance. Of course, it will still be possible to send your registrations, payments and membership updates in the traditional way.

We have also continued to make our website (www.swiss-hk.com) more interesting and interactive. Please have a look and give us your feedback and let us know if you would like to contribute to our website.

Every year the Swiss Association organises over 70 events ranging from several large signature events to smaller exclusive events. This year's cover shows the variety of events the Swiss Association is organising with the passionate and enthusiastic help of so many volunteers. It is thanks to their contribution that the Swiss Association has remained so lively and active here in Hong Kong.

My goal is to continue making our Swiss Association a fun, interesting and interactive meeting place for all Swiss, Swiss at heart and their friends in Hong Kong. While embracing the new, we also value the traditions and the past. Organising events and fostering the relationship among the Swiss community in Hong Kong is both a pleasure and an honor. I'm looking forward to an exciting time serving as president.

I would like to extend my gratitude to my fellow committee members, the continued excellent relationship and support from the Consulate General of Switzerland in Hong Kong and the Swiss Chamber of Commerce and last but not least everyone else who has supported the Swiss Association in one way or another.

We trust you will enjoy this year's edition of s'Alphorn and wish you all the best in the year ahead.

With my best wishes,
Pietro Immordino
President of the Swiss Association of Hong Kong

The Swiss Association of Hong Kong (SAHK) serves as a focal point for the local Swiss community to socialize, foster friendships, conduct business networking, and meet and engage in activities of common interest.

Throughout the years, the SAHK has welcomed numerous Swiss nationals in Hong Kong and enabled them to maintain and share their heritage and cultural experiences while abroad.

The SAHK organises a variety of activities including monthly luncheons with guest speakers, monthly Jass evenings, monthly golfing, holiday parties for children and family hikes. The SAHK works closely with other Swiss organisations such as the Consulate General of Switzerland, Swiss Benevolent Society, Swiss School Committee, Swiss Chamber of Commerce, Swiss XI, Swiss Dragon Boat Team, Swiss Sedan Chair Race Team and Swiss Rifle Association.

Membership to the SAHK is open to all. To find out more, email us at info@swisshk.com or visit our website at www.swiss-hk.com

New Committee Members

Barbara Hemmi Verburg

My family and I moved to Hong Kong only in August 2015, but my passion for Hong Kong and Asia has started long ago. When working for a Swiss bank in Zurich, I quickly moved from the domestic affairs to the then so called "Far East" department. My holidays I spent mostly traveling in Asia, every time discovering more of its fascinating and diverse history and culture.

Hong Kong has since long been on top of our list with places, where we could imagine to live in. After having spent 4 years in Singapore, which we also enjoyed with the then still smaller children, we are now very happy to have the chance to discover Hong Kong. We love the authenticity of the city, its energy and its fascinating mix of east and west.

When being new to the city last summer, we highly appreciated the SA events such as the Shek O Beach BBQ or the junk outing, which gave us the chance to make new friends among the Swiss community. To continue these traditions and to give newcomers and "old" Swiss in Hong Kong the chance to meet and greet, I am very motivated to join the committee and especially support the events team.

Andres Flueckiger

I was born in Schaffhausen and grew up near the Rheinfall in the Zürcher Weinland. After my education as Mechanical Engineer I joined the Army and after that I traveled around Australia for a while.

Back in Switzerland I started working for a small company in Zürich in the machine industry. In 2005 my company asked me if I wanted to move to Hong Kong and set up an office for them. It did not take me long to make a decision.

Shortly after, I moved with two suitcases to Hong Kong on a tourist visa. I was lucky to get very quickly in touch with a bunch of international people which are still my good friends. I love the variety and the opportunities in the city, like hiking, beaches and the nightlife.

After working for 9 years for the same company I decided to open my own business in Food & Beverages. I founded Epijoy Limited which is importing quality goods from Switzerland to Hong Kong and Macau.

I enjoy my life in this beautiful city and I am happy to be a member of the Swiss Association Committee.

New Monthly Coffee Morning Organiser

Lembit Lellep

Originally from Canada, over the past 15 years I have followed my wife to live in four different countries as a result of her employment with SwissRe. Nine of these years have been in Switzerland, the country we speak of as home.

London, England was our temporary home for three and a half years. Washington, D.C. was our base for 1 year. Now we have been in Hong Kong since August 2014. In 2003 our daughter was born in Zurich and since then she has been part of this moving around the world equation. She is currently in K8 at GSIS.

In Canada I owned a travel agency, looking after a wide range of travel arrangements for both individuals and for groups. The special focus of my company, however, was organizing soft adventure programs world-wide, and creatively constructing complex multi-country flight itineraries.

A couple of years after moving to Switzerland I sold my travel company. Since then when people ask what I do, I say 'Ich bin Hausmann.' This has allowed me to enjoy involvement in a range of projects and activities wherever I happen to be living.

The SAHK coffee mornings are something I look forward to every month. With being asked to become the organizer of these coffee mornings I am delighted to be able to give something back.

Thank you to Kesang Spirgi

Kesang Spirgi was our wonderful Monthly Coffee Morning Organiser for 2015/2016. The meeting venues varied between Kowloon and Hong Kong Island alternately. The group got bigger over time and it was nice to catch up with old friends and to meet new joiners over a cup of coffee or a sumptuous breakfast. Thanks to Kesang for her diligent efforts.

Lembit Lellep has kindly accepted our request to be our new Monthly Coffee Morning Organiser, replacing Kesang. Thank you to Lembit too and we hope to see you at the next Coffee Morning.

Organisation of the Swiss Abroad

ASO CONGRESS IN GENEVA

AUGUST 2015

Alexandre Tunik

Last year congress took place in Geneva

The theme was “Civic Education – guaranty for a living democracy”. There were some movies displayed on how to interest teenagers to get involved and interested in politics. Statistics show that very few young people take part in votes and elections.

Other topics raised:

* Slow introduction of E-voting in various cantons due to security reasons. Disappointment for many delegates.

* The Federal election were a big topic of the agenda including the relations Switzerland/EU.

* The way Swiss banks and lately even Postfinance treat customers who move abroad or live already outside Switzerland.

* The President of the Council, Jacques-Simon Eggly stepped back after 8 years and the current vice president Remo Gysin from Basel was elected as the new president.

Vice president will be Filippo Lombardi from Ticino (the initiator of the new law regarding the Swiss living abroad)

* This year ASO will celebrate its 100th anniversary and the Congress will take place in Berne from 5th to 7th August, 2016.

Alex Tunik as guest speaker during the Monthly Joint Luncheon organised by SAHK and SwissCham

Issues I have raised at the ASO Congress as follows:

* I lost my passport while travelling in Europe and could not obtain a “temporary passport” at the Swiss Embassy in Paris because the printer was broken. It took me 3 hours at the Chilean embassy to have a temporary one issued.

* The issue of opening a bank account is discussed at every ASO meeting. In the case of Hong Kong, it is not a problem for a Swiss Citizen to open an account if he/she meets the minimum amount criterias set up by each bank

* It is not always easy for Swiss children relocating to Switzerland to enter either in the Primary/ Secondary school or at Swiss Universities. Each Canton has its own regulations in what refers to “entry exams” to local schools and each University has its own criteria in what refers to the minimum amount of points requested if the Student has an IB for example (32 points in the case of the HSG; 38 points in the case of ETH).

Pietro Immordino, the acting president of the SAHK welcomed all guests and members for their participation.

The meeting agenda was as follows:

Approval of last year's SAHK minutes and year end accounts report read

The Swiss School report and accounts read

Approval of SBS minutes and their accounts read

Alex Tunik, our Hong Kong Representative of ASO gave an update of the ASO congress in Geneva.

Our outgoing president Benjamin Mueller-Rappard was in Switzerland but he gave his full support to the 2016/17 SAHK Committee. The audience gave a warm applause to the newly appointed president, Pietro Immordino, and the entire SAHK committee for their much appreciated efforts made last year.

We thank all who participated in the AGM meeting either in person or by proxy. The number of participants and proxies received was a record high. Thank you.

Letter from Consul General Reto Renggli

Dear Members of the Swiss Association of Hong Kong,
dear Swiss Citizens,
dear Friends of Switzerland

It is my pleasure to introduce you to some new faces at the Consulate General in Hong Kong. I arrived last year after a four years assignment in Switzerland.

In January, my new Deputy Andreas Rufer arrived from Boston where he was working with Swissnex, the Swiss Science Consulate. Erwin Lüthi has left the Consulate and is preparing for his new assignment in Shanghai. You may already know Willy Zemp, the new Vice Consul, who arrived in July last year from South Africa. Another big change is the retirement of my personal assistant Anita Nahr by the end of March. Her successor, Richard Kurz, is already working at the Consulate General in order to ensure a smooth transition. Ms Melody Tsin Yee Shu Kin So started working in the Visa Section last October, replacing Ms May Siu. Furthermore, our Head of Chancery, Ms Sandra Chawla-Gantenbein, will take on her next assignment at the Swiss Consulate General in Munich this summer after having completed a tenure of four years here in Hong Kong. Her successor, Mr Reto Läderach, will be arriving from Addis Abeba.

I would like to thank all my colleagues who have left, for their dedication and contribution to the success of the Consulate General and welcome all the new arrivals.

While there is always a high fluctuation of the transferable staff within our Consulate some of our local colleagues have been with us for many years. Our Economic Commissioner Wing Kai Chan celebrates his 25th jubilee with the Consulate this year. He is an important asset to the Consulate and it is a pleasure to have him on board. All of us wish him all the best and many more good years to come.

I am looking forward to promote and represent the interests of our Country and to strengthen the relations between Hong Kong and Switzerland by supporting and encouraging economical, trade, technological, educational and cultural exchange. Furthermore the Consulate General is of course an important link between Swiss nationals in Hong Kong and Macau and the authorities at home in Switzerland. The Consular Section will follow an "open door policy" towards the Swiss community in order to maintain the high level of services we have always offered and I do encourage you to contact us any time.

It is furthermore a pleasure to introduce you to our new updated Event Newsletter which informs about Swiss-related events taking place in Hong Kong and Macao. If you haven't already signed up for this bi-monthly Newsletter you can do so by going to our webpage, where you'll find a link to register.

I'm looking forward to meeting the Swiss Community in Hong Kong during my term as Consul General on one of our events or on any other Sino-Swiss related gatherings.

Reto Renggli

Pencils versus Ladles

Daniel Wetling, S'Alphorn Drawing Contributor

Born with pencils in his mouth, Daniel has been drawing funny pictures of anything that came to his mind from a tender age.

His parents ran a hairdressing saloon so he had to help out from a very young age. Often time, lots of colourful dyes were "available" in the shop, and so he started his first few masterpieces colouring the walls and storeroom of the shop. After several fruitless attempts to hide all the colourful mixtures and dyes, his parents finally bought him a large box of crayons and pencils – and that is how Daniel started his passion of drawing and painting! Now, a very few years later, he remains to be very passionate about his compositions and, apart from just simple illustrations, he also amuses his friends and colleagues with caricature drawings.

He always leaves his house with a sketch book and pencil in his briefcase. Once he sees something interesting, he will make a few drafts. At home, he will sit down and try to bring his ideas to life. Sometimes it does not work right away and more than one sketch is needed before the whole impression will be ready for the next step, the final layout.

Spotlight

As an avid runner who runs 80-100 kilometres a week, he also gets his inspiration during his trainings but without having a sketchbook in his hand! Daniel uses different pencils and tools to work on new ideas and techniques. The most time consuming stage of the drawing lies in colouring where details and themes emerge.

For 20 years, he has been contributing special portrayals of a Swiss Alphorn in a humorous way to the Swiss Association and Swiss community at large. Apart from the Swiss Alphorn, his “iconic mouse” is always featured alongside the beautiful backdrop of Swiss scenery.

Daniel is also teaching young children the art of drawing and is always amazed on what creations the little people can put on paper. Much is written on how drawings can improve children’s intelligence. Daniel agrees that to a certain extent that children can benefit from being artistic in their early lives. But, he also believes that instead of placing children to any form of tests to indicate their intelligence, they should be given the freedom of drawing anything they like.

Every child has a different way of learning, therefore, he strongly suggests to purchase crayons and pencils for children at a very early stage in their lives so the walls and storerooms in their homes are not being coloured by dyes or any other forms of colorizations.

Max Liechti and Swiss Chalet Restaurant Hannes Lanz

It is always a pleasure to visit the Swiss Chalet, established in 1989, for a wholesome lunch or dinner, as the quality and selections of the various menus are always outstanding and well selected. The bill at the end of the meal is very reasonable – probably one of the best deals in town.

Max Liechti, our Culinary Swiss Ambassador is well established in the Far East since 1975. He personally heads the kitchen to make sure that each plate leaving the stove is perfect in every respect, taste and presentation.

Max also just got the well-deserved plaque from Michelin (2016 Micheline Guide Recommended Restaurant). Max is the first and only one who got this recommendation as an operator/owner of an authentically run Swiss restaurant established outside of Switzerland.

This honor and pride can be shared by all of us of the Swiss community here in Hong Kong

Swiss Chalet is located at 12-14 Hart Avenue, Tsim Sha Tsui. Telephone: 2191 9197

MTR Direction: Alight at TST station, take the exit NP for TST East. Step on the electric walkway and exit at N1-3 after the 2nd section. Take the lift to the upper floor. Turn left, go straight for one minute to Hart Avenue, turn right and the sign of the Chalet Restaurant is in front of you.

1) When and why did Max come to Hong Kong?

He had a job interview in Switzerland on 1st January 1975 and was offered the opportunity to work in Hong Kong.

One month later, he arrived in Hong Kong on 20th February 1975 and started his career with Hong Kong Hotel as a Junior Chef. He later worked in the Peninsula Hotel, Repulse Bay Hotel, all under the Peninsula Hotel Group.

2) When did Max join the Swiss Association?

Max joined the Swiss Association a few years after he arrived in HK

3) When did Max start his own restaurant, Swiss Chalet?

Max owned Swiss Chalet Restaurant in 1998.

Prior to that, Swiss Chalet started in the Royal Pacific Hotel at the China Hong Kong City in 1988 and was under another ownership.

Max was the Executive Chef and was involved with not only the food but the design of the authentic Swiss restaurant. After almost 10 years of success, the restaurant was forced to closure due to the Asian Financial Crisis.

As in life when one door closes, another opens. Max took the opportunity to start up his business and kept the restaurant name. It took about a year of preparation for his Swiss Chalet to be opened in Hart Avenue, Tsimshastui. A number of the restaurant fittings and furniture were rescued from the hotel.

4) What were the challenges in the business in the beginning?

Being the owner of a restaurant, Max has the additional responsibilities of customer relationships and publicity for his business.

Lucky for him, he has a strong team of staff who has been with him for a long time. Max is very hands-on and under his management, Swiss Chalet has strong and loyal following. Swiss Chalet is listed as a Michelin recommended restaurant in 2016.

5) Which of the Swiss Association activities does he still participate and enjoy the most?

He participates in the Jass Club that meets monthly at the Pacific Club.

He used to be more active with the Rifle Club activities but less lately. However, he still prepares food for the Rifle Club events so everyone could enjoy some authentic Swiss food after some shooting.

6) How does Max relax himself?

In recent years Max finds spending time with his family most relaxing. He enjoys every moment with his family very much.

7) Which dish is the best seller in the restaurant?

Züri Gschnätzlets mit Rööschi followed by Fondue.

Tobias Brandner

Light in the Dark

Tobias Brandner is currently an Associate Professor at the Divinity School of Chung Chi College, Chinese University of Hong Kong, teaching history of Western Christianity, mission studies, and ecumenism.

An ordained pastor of the Swiss Reformed Church – at present with the Hong Kong Tsung Tsin Mission Church – he has over 20 years of experience as prison chaplain, from 1990 to 1996 in Switzerland and since 1998 in Hong Kong. He has recently published the book Beyond the Walls of Separation. Christian Faith and Ministry in Prison (Eugene, Oregon: Cascade, 2014).

1. What is the most common first question when people learn of your work in HK?

Often people ask me: Why someone from Switzerland for this work? - Then, I usually tell them that when this ministry, the care for those in prison, developed in Hong Kong, not many local churches would pay attention to people in prison. Prison ministry was a marginal issue in the church. The churches mainly focused on serving their own members. That is the reason why Basel Mission (today Mission 21, Basel) decided to support this ministry with a co-worker. This support began already in the 80s, before I came to HK, with another co-worker. Basel Mission has a very long relationship with Hong Kong. For the past 169 years, people from Basel have continuously been in HK and served together with local Christians. My work is part of this long tradition.

Today, Christians in HK are much more caring for inmates. I still continue to serve in this ministry, but nowadays only part-time, as a volunteer, beside my main work at the Chinese University. I believe that people from outside Hong Kong can bring an added value to prison ministry, different from what local Christians do. That is a reason why I still continue my visits to people in prison – and also because the inmates have become my friends.

2. How do you open the hearts of the inmates and have them start talking to you?

I reach them by simply being present: I regularly walk through all the workshops in prison, say hello to everyone. People know me and approach me when they have something. It is actually not too difficult because first, people are bored in prison, so they see me as a welcome interruption of their boredom (recently, a rather critical and cynical inmate said: “It is so boring here that I even speak to the chaplain!”); and secondly, they crave for human contact, for someone they can trust, somebody from outside their world. I have been part of prisons in HK, particularly Stanley Prison and Shek Pik Prison, for the past 18 years. In this period, many people met me and I established a good relationship to many of them.

3. “Money is the root of all evil”-what do you think of this quote in relation to crimes?

Hong Kong is very obsessed with money. On the other side, money is a reality and it makes life easier. The problem in HK is that wealth is extremely unequally distributed. The omnipresent display of fortune is an obvious temptation. Many people like to take a short-cut to get rich. Of course, many people also see that those who became rich have not chosen very moral ways. Many ways of accumulating wealth are immoral and not much better than criminal ways – only with the small difference that they are legal. Witnessing the glaring immorality of much of economic life, some poor and not so poor people choose to take the short-cut of illegality.

In fact, a very high percentage of crimes are related to money: drug crimes (and there are a lot of inmates in prison due to drug-related crimes), financial crimes, robberies, etc. Also some violent crimes are related to money - debt collection etc.

In this regard, yes, money appears as root of all evil. But of course, it is wrong. Money is simply a way to facilitate exchanges. The root of all evil is rather our obsession with status and money. Faith communities thus respond to crime by saying that change ultimately needs to happen in our hearts. This does not mean that structural and political changes are unnecessary, but the bottom line is to overcome our greed.

4. "A person's relationship with God can be a source of comfort in troubled times, as well as a foundation for self-esteem, feeling unconditionally valued, loved, and cared for." When an inmate accepts God in his heart, is he more positive even behind bars?

Yes, I would definitely say so. Imprisonment is a terrible experience of being rejected from the human community. It is a totally upsetting experience: it undermines people's self-esteem and it has a very destructive impact on their relationships. In this regard, the basic Christian message that God loves each one unconditionally - that means, without prior condition of achievement from our side, without anything we have to do or fulfill first - is very powerfully speaking to people in prison. They understand what it means. And this message can set in motion changes - of a person, of a person's self-understanding and self-esteem, and of a person's relationships. This may cause a person to be more balanced and yes, more positive about life.

5. Do you have new suggestions to rehabilitate inmates and help them better reintegrate to society once they are released?

I am advocating some changes in rehabilitation and I talk to the Correctional Services Department (CSD) and other people in this regard. I couldn't say that I have been successful, but even without much visible success I believe that it is part of my responsibility to speak to all sides of the prison.

Changes I advocate are standard practice in many constituencies around the world, among them also in Switzerland, but not in Hong Kong. I would like to see improvements that would allow an inmate a more gradual transition to the life outside of prison.

At present, Hong Kong prisons grant no furlough at all (in contrast to Swiss prisons where it is mostly granted). This means that inmates are released after years of imprisonment without any chance to slowly adapt to the outside world. They cannot even go to a job interview before their release. Also for the families such a sudden reunion can be shocking, even though they may have waited many years for familial reunion.

I also advocate better visiting rules. At present, inmates can only meet their families a maximum of four times per month, each time 30 minutes, overall 2 hours. These visits are without physical contact, mostly through a glass screen. I think it would be good for inmates to have a chance to meet their family longer and more privately. One should remember that the simple fact of incarceration is actually already a very strong punishment.

Thirdly, I advocate more resources for education and training. At present, the CSD puts most of their educational and training resources into young offenders' rehabilitation. Young offenders are surely worth to be particularly cared for. But the older ones should not be neglected. I also ask for improvements for inmates from abroad - many Africans and Latin Americans, but also from other places. They have many special needs. For instance, at present, they are only allowed once in two months to make a phone call back home for maximum 10 min. This is simply not enough.

6. What inspired you to write the book "Beyond the Separation of Walls"?

When I started writing this book, I had been working in prisons for around 15 years, first in Switzerland, from 1990 to 1996 (part-time) and since 1998 in HK. I had experienced many fascinating encounters that deeply inspired me.

At the same time, as a theologian, many encounters have really challenged me to think more exactly about basic parts of our Christian faith. During my years as prison chaplain, I have worked together with many church volunteers. I had brought probably hundreds of people as occasional volunteer visitors to prison (and also brought them out again). And I wanted to give them more information about how to understand the world of prison, how to approach people in this special context, and how to present the Christian message in a way that is truly encouraging and liberating. A lot of Christians, particularly more evangelical ones, enter prison with a very clear intention of bringing inmates to the Christian faith. This is well meant but is sometimes too goal-oriented.

I tried to encourage them to understand that their simple visit alone is already a very powerful message. These and other things were what I had carried in my heart for some years and the writing process happened very naturally and quite easily. In short: the many encounters with inmates inspired me.

7. If you were to write the next book, what would it be about?

Well, at this moment, I am in the process of finishing a book on the history of Western Christianity for Chinese reader. This is a very different area and is a result of regularly teaching this subject at the Chinese University.

A topic that is a bit closer to my heart is the change of global Christianity in the past decades. People in the West often still think of Christianity as a Western religion. This is wrong. Christianity is nowadays a global faith community. It is a vibrant faith in many parts of the world and it develops in ways rather different to how we know church in the West. I have learnt a lot about Christianity in China and elsewhere, particularly in Southeast Asia. I could imagine writing more about something related to this change in global Christianity. Probably, it will be not so much a book but a smaller piece.

Prisoners and the whole world of the prison are still closest to my heart, but at this moment, I still think I have said what I wanted to say in my earlier book.

8. You learnt Cantonese within a short period of time and now you speak fluently. How do you encourage others who are interested to learn but intimidated by the seeming complexity?

Probably I would tell people that no matter how much you learn it opens a huge window into another world and as such it is anytime worth it. Even if you only get a glimpse through this window, it is a fascinating world. I would also tell them that I experienced people in HK as tremendously appreciating and encouraging if one makes the effort to learn their language. Local people are very much aware how difficult Cantonese is. So they don't expect much. Speaking even a little bit is a form of telling them that you take their culture serious and you express an interest in them. Or simply speaking, you express appreciation for them and they receive it as such.

Historical Walks

Verena Mooser

WAN CHAI

Wan Chai means "Small Bay" in Cantonese, and for generations was also known as Ha Wan, or Lower Bay. This perennially interesting urban district began in pre-British times as a small Chinese settlement grouped around the location of the present Tai Wong Temple on Queen's Road East. Modern Wanchai began in the 1840s with the intention of creating a high-class residential and commercial centre. Major foreign firms owned substantial buildings, godowns and wharves facing the sea.

Walking around Wan Chai there are many interesting reminders of Hong Kong's past which historian Jason Wordie pointed out during this spring's Historical Walk. Strolling around Hong Kong Park, the former site of the Victoria Barracks, the participants saw a WWI statue with a Brodie helmet dedicated to John Robert Osborn, a British WWII soldier, while learning about Hong Kong's role in the war. They also learned some fascinating facts, like the reason why there are so many mango trees in the park: they were originally planted so the Indian troops stationed at the barracks would have something to remind them of home.

The walk took the group from along the upper parts of Wan Chai, passing Electric Street, so named because it was the site of the first power station in the city, all the way to the Pak Tai Temple and Cross Street. Stopping at various interesting spots, the participants learned about the development of Wan Chai from a Chinese hamlet to a high-class residential and commercial centre in the 19th Century and its present incarnation as an area of business, bars and night-clubs.

RESERVOIRS AND REDOUTS

October saw an enthusiastic group of SAHK members hiking around the area surrounding Shing Mun Reservoir to visit the surviving tunnels and emplacements of what is commonly known as the "Gin Drinker's Line". The twelve-acre underground citadel formed the largest single entity in an extended defensive complex that extended right across the Kowloon hills from Gin Drinker's Bay to Port Shelter.

During our walk not only did we learn about Hong Kong's history and importance during WWII but we also enjoyed fantastic views over the surrounding countryside, and had an adventurous time following the tunnels built so many years ago. Both the adults and children who participated were thrilled by Mr Wordie's descriptions and explanations, making it a Saturday afternoon to remember.

45th MELCHTERLI CUP 2015

Tobias Murer

Every year in late autumn, Swiss and Swiss-related golf players are invited to ShekO in order to measure their golf skills on one of the exclusive membership courses of Hong Kong, the ShekO Golf & Country Club. And while probably not every reader recalls the 6th of October 2015 by heart, it was actually one of the rainiest day in Hong Kong in 2015 with heavy squally showers, strong winds and thunderstorms, especially in Central. But once again Hong Kong proved to have many microclimates and the ShekO sky and golf course presented themselves from its best possible side and offered some breathtaking scenery. The organization committee was in any case delighted to give the "go-ahead" to the many worried enquiries of the 22 players before they all made their way to the south side of Hong Kong for tee-off at 1pm.

And while the trophy of the tournament in the form of a "Melchterli" (a wooden bucket used in the past by Swiss mountain farmers to transport milk) seems to gain in prestige every year, the spirit of the tournament remains unchanged - namely to spend a day and evening amongst friends of Switzerland, while having the opportunity to play on a great golf venue. The 2015 event - which is already the 45th times this Cup is being played in ShekO - certainly lived up to this spirit and the committee is especially pleased that many golfers joined their first golf tournament ever.

Over 30 players, spouses and guests at the dinner applauded not only the lady golfers or the winner of the longest drive and closest to the pin, but especially Luciano Tattoni as the winner of this year's tournament scoring the highest number of stableford points despite starting with a low handicap of 9.

The organization committee is already looking to the Melchterli Cup 2016.

SWISS RIFLE ASSOCIATION OF HONG KONG Alexander Luedi, President

Did you know?

* Swiss army trained men and women can still shoot in Hong Kong with a for civilian used adapted version of the SIG 550 (Stgw 90). And can have their annual compulsory shooting program done and certified by the Swiss Rifle Association

* Shoot live rounds on a 50 shooting range in Sheng Shui, using standard GP 90 ammunition imported from Switzerland

* That in 2015 our members scored among the best in the Swiss Abroad Shooting competition, and the annual medal distributed among over 30 Swiss shooting clubs globally features Hong Kong, and was designed by one of our members

* That Swiss airlines is no longer able to transport our bi-annual order for 6,000 rounds of ammunition, because they overfly a country that does not give such permission, and we now get it by Emirates?

* To join the approximate 50 members costs only HKD 1,000 allowing to participate in our two shooting competitions per year

* Have Bratwurst and Cervelats overlooking Shenzhen from the shooting range

If this all sounds interesting to you, do not hesitate to look us up under SRAHK on Facebook, or approach any existing member for information how to join!

SWISS QUALITY THAT JUST KEEPS RUNNING

SWISS XI

Juerg Niederberger

HISTORY TOUR

Swiss XI was founded 39 years ago! Yes, the beginning of Swiss XI was as early as 1977, pre-email, pre-mobile phones, pre-team organization apps, pre-internet, pre-astro-turf. It is difficult to imagine how it was possible to organize a team without all these convenient “modern” tools.

Wow, so many things have changed since 1977, okay I was already born and past the kindergarten, but still, that is a long time ago. Swiss XI has gone and grown up over the years. It became an established football team that plays in the Yau Yee League (“YYL”) in the 1st (out of four) divisions for the last eight years. While the emphasis was (and still is) on Swiss players coming together and kick some ball around, an equally important part was (and still is) the social side of people from very different backgrounds coming together and just enjoying some beers after a good win (or enjoying some GAT (Going-Away-Tours) to Osaka (2014), Ho Chi Minh (2013), Bali (2011) to mention just a few).

Swiss XI is today a multicultural team with a strong Swiss core, a growing Japanese contingent, a few local players as well as Canadians, Germans, and a few more nations. Over the years, Swiss XI has had different successes, playing and winning the different divisions (but unfortunately not yet the ultimate one, the 1st division championship), then making it to the Cup Final (but also not yet quite winning it).

However, Swiss XI did win a few trophies along the way. Some trophies for the post-season YYL 6-a-side tournaments were won over the years. One of the other highlights of the Swiss XI history must have been joining the 5-a-side Hong Kong qualifier tournament for the 5-a-side World Championship in Dubai ... and yes, Swiss XI won that Hong Kong qualifier and went on an all-expense trip to Dubai to play the World Championship in 2014. What an experience. The three games against Spain, Nigeria and UAE resulted in two points, which was unfortunately not enough for going through to the next round.

RECORDS

As always, Swiss XI is a team of change, players come and go, but the team has some core players that just keep running. The "records" mentioned in the S'Alphorn 132 (2014) continue to be pushed higher; there is Rene Bühlmann who continues to add more goals to his Swiss XI record of 128 goals in 170 games, there is Peter Bachmann who continues to push up the age record of "oldest Swiss XI goal scorer" with his 47 years of age, there is Marco Klaus who will soon have played 200 games for Swiss XI and there is Jürg Niederberger who is currently at 238 games played for Swiss XI.

CURRENT SEASON

I make a bold statement now, if we have all our players available every Sunday, then I bet we would have been in the running to take home the League Championship. However, Swiss XI being Swiss XI, we have more bankers than teachers and therefore, business trips or fancy holidays are more a fact than an exception.

Therefore, we have to change the team squad weekly, which makes any kind of routine plays rather difficult. We finished last season in sixth spot while we are currently in seventh spot. However, the big highlight will be our Cup semi-final which we reached by beating German All-Stars (currently first in the league) and then(HKFC) Club Wanderers (currently second) with nice 3-1 and 3-0 wins. Support us, keep your fingers crossed so that we make it to the Cup Final.

To finish off, special thanks goes to all people involved in running the team, among a few, there are Marco Klaus and David Hanzl. A bigger thanks goes to our sponsors "UBS", "Swiss Sure" and "Ziggy's Fine Food", without them we would play naked (and nobody wants that).

THANKS TO ALL.

Swiss School Committee

Established in 1978, the Swiss School Committee (SSC) is a sub-committee of the Swiss Association of Hong Kong (SAHK) with a reporting-line to the Swiss government and the SAHK. The SSC provides a platform to support the educational needs of the Swiss community.

The members of the SSC Hong Kong are in constant contact with Swiss teachers at the schools, school boards and parents' committees in order to provide the most possible amount of "Swissness" at both, FIS and GSIS. The SSC is as well overseeing the privilege of priority admittance at either the French and French bilingual stream at FIS and the German stream at GSIS.

If you have any questions, comments or if you need help or advice regarding admittance, school choice, compatibility between Swiss and International curriculums, you can contact one of the members of the Swiss School Committee at any time.

SSC Event: Raclette booth at GSIS Bazaar 2015

Tanya Lecher

As in previous years, Inge and Stefan Herzog's Raclette booth at GSIS's famous Christmas bazaar was the winner of "most popular attraction of the event"! Prominently located on the rooftop of GSIS new middle building, nobody went by without getting his or her cheese-fix.

The team of 27 volunteers was dressed up in Swiss national colors and sold over 200kg of cheese on 7 Raclette ovens. The queues were long, but it was worth the wait!

SSC Events

Meet & Greet Family Beach Event Shek'O Beach

Tanja Lecher

The traditional and very popular SAHK event was held again at Shek'O beach. Over 140 participants joined and we had to rent additional BBQ's to accommodate everybody.

In addition to great fun, delicious food and drinks, the SSC organized a raffle to raise funds for the French International School's Mobile IT-Lab.

Thanks to very generous contributions of attractive prizes by a large number of sponsors; the event was a huge success: The SSC was able to hand over a check over HK$31,000
